

Cuyahoga Valley Photographic Society Workshop

Photo Road Trip: Springtime in Hocking Hills with Ian Adams April 18-21, 2013

Join CVPS and fellow photographers for a Photo Road Trip to Hocking Hills! Led by Ohio photographer Ian Adams, this tour provides an exciting opportunity to experience the most rugged scenery in the Buckeye State.

We will explore Conkel's Hollow, Old Man's Cave, Cedar Falls, Ash Cave, Rock House and Zaleski State Forest to photograph beautiful landscapes, streams and waterfalls, rock patterns, spring wildflowers, and flowering trees.

In educational sessions and group critiques, Ian will share his insight on improving landscape composition, digital workflow, iPhone and iPad photography, and self-publishing a photographic book.

Workshop Details and Registration

The Road Trip meets Thursday evening in Logan, Ohio (about 3 hours south of Akron) through mid-day Sunday. The workshop will have a designated hotel as a home-base; participants are responsible for their own lodging, food, and transportation (carpooling is encouraged). Participants should be experienced photographers who are comfortable with their camera, tripod, and managing their images. Participants are encouraged to bring a laptop to download and process their images for critique. Limited to 20 participants.

Workshop Fee:

$395 CVPS member/ $460 non-member

Early bird discount for the first 10 registered participants with deposit paid by March 15: $345 CVPS member/ $410 non-member $225 deposit; balance due March 1.

Ash Cave Falls and Dwarf Crested Iris © Ian Adams

To register, call the Conservancy for CVNP:
(330) 657-2909 ext. 100

About the Instructor

Ian Adams is an environmental photographer based in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, who specializes in Ohio natural, rural, historical and garden photography. Nineteen books of his color photography have been published, including Missouri Botanical Garden: Green for 150 Years, Our First Family's Home: The Ohio Governor's Residence & Heritage Garden, Backroads of Ohio, The Floridas, Cuyahoga Valley National Park, and A Photographer's Guide To Ohio. In addition, Ian has produced more than 60 Ohio calendars and conducted more than 180 seminars and photography workshops throughout North America. Learn more about Ian and his photography at www.ianadamsphotography.com