Introduction to Digital SLR Photography

Join accomplished photographer Jim Roetzel, who has over 30 years of teaching and photography experience, for an immersive workshop in digital photography at the historic Stanford House. Learn and practice the guiding principles of photography through hands-on lessons.

While developing your new photography skills, follow naturalist Dale Versteegen on guided hikes through Cuyahoga Valley National Park. Discover how deepening the knowledge of your subject(s) can improve your ability to capture them in amazing photographs that highlight their beauty.

This weekend course will cover: camera controls, exposure, metering, lens controls, focus, sharp images, composition, and equipment advice; it will also provide participants with valuable photograph reviews. (Participants are required to provide their own digital SLR camera and must be able to download their pictures for review.)
